

Where to look for capital: from love money to loans (Feb 22)

Presented by Nicole Johnson, Branch Business Specialist, Vancity

Your business idea is advancing nicely with expansion just around the corner. All signs say that you're on the right track, if you only had access to more funding to support increased sales. You've used up your own financial resources and friends and family are tired of you asking for their help. Where do you turn to get access to the financing you need to start or grow your business?

In this seminar participants will:

1. Learn about various sources of capital to support business expansion
2. Develop an action list to most effectively use your limited start-up capital
3. Commit to implementing cash flow planning into your business

This seminar will get you over the hump of attracting financial capital to your enterprise.
